11th-HOUR STAY GRANTED STARKWEATHER BY JUDGE OF U. S. DISTRICT COURT

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—Charles Starkweather, 20, slayer of 11, won a two weeks stay of execution today a little more than an hour before he was to go to the electric chair.

Chief U. S. Dist. Judge Richard Robinson of Omaha stayed the execution until June 4. He said that would give Starkweather time to appeal a District Court denial of a writ of habeas corpus.

Starkweather was scheduled for execution about 6 a. m. for one of the slayings during a murder rampage 16 months ago. The stubby red-haired youth admitted 11 gun and knife killings.

Official witnesses and newsmen were already gathered in a pre-dawn thunderstorm when the acting state penitentiary warden, John Greenholtz, notified them the execution had been stayed.

Increase In Living Costs During April

WASHINGTON (AP)—Living costs rose in April, climbing back to the record high reached in July and November of last year.

The government index went up two-tenths of one per cent from March to 223.9 per cent of the 1947-49 base. This matched the peak recorded in two months last year.

Announcing the figure today, the Labor Department said that rising state and local taxes helped shove up the living-cost level. Costs of transportation, medical care, recreation and personal care items all were up also.

Food, however, declined one-tenth of one per cent continuing a nine-months drop interrupted only in January.

The new living cost rise was accompanied by a Labor Department report showing the purchasing power of factory worker earnings also rose to a record level in April. The previous record was in December 1956.

Spendable earnings of factory workers—their pay less federal tax deductions—also set a record in April.

Factory worker take-home pay average $80.68 per week for the worker with three dependents and $73.14 for the single worker. This reflected both increased wages

National Walkout Threat Is Denied Again by Hoffa

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP)—Although he said he favors system and industry bargaining, Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa says his union never would call a national walkout.

He denied making the threat of such a strike in a talk at Brownsville, Tex. and reiterated an earlier claim that he had been misquoted.

But, Hoffa added, he does not feel he was "victimized" by the press because "I can handle myself."

Hoffa, here to talk with Minneapolis and St. Paul Teamsters, said his union would abide by any restrictions Congress imposes in new laws. "But," he added, "we reserve the right to have the advantages as well as the disadvantages of any new legislation."

Told that Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) had made a speech Thursday night in which he accused Hoffa of a "public-banned" attitude, he said Kennedy would "do well to examine his own remarks to see whether he is talking in the best interests of the working man."

Warren Native Is Ordained Today

A host of friends from Trinity Memorial Church, with several members of the clergy of London, Ontario, were present this morning to witness the ordination of John G. MacDonald, left, to the Episcopal Diaconate by the Rt. Rev. William MacDonald, D.D., Bishop of Erie. The Rev. MacDonald will continue his studies at Huron College, London, Ont., where he, with wife, Susie, right, and sons Stephen and Douglas, center, resides. With several other Episcopal clergymen participating in the ordination, the Litanist was The Rev. Morse Robinson, rector of St. George's Church, London, Ont., whose assistant the new Deacon will be this summer. The sermon was given by the Rev. W. R. Coleman, preacher, principal and dean of Huron College in Canada. Luncheon for visiting clergymen and wives was served by Trinity Women. A full account of the ordination of the prominent former local resident will appear in Monday's Times-Mirror.—Stokes Studio.

Ship That Captured Enemy Sub Doomed

BAYONNE, N. J. (AP)—The fortunes of war are fickle. The escort carrier Guadalcanal was towed a few miles upstream Thursday from the naval base here to be scrapped. She is listed in Navy records as the only American vessel to capture an enemy submarine on the high seas during World War II.

The submarine she captured—a German U-boat—has been preserved as a museum attraction in Chicago.

Kennedy Defends New Labor Law In Buffalo Talk

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—James R. Hoffa, president of the Teamsters Union, is mistaken if he thinks the threat of a nationwide strike will block legislation he doesn't like, Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) says.

The union president has been quoted as threatening such a strike if Congress should pass restrictive labor legislation. He has denied the statement, which was attributed to him in a speech at Brownsville, Tex., last Tuesday.

Kennedy, in a speech here Thursday night, said Hoffa's threatened strike was "a general strike such as those which have paralyzed less stable nations with less powerful governments in the past."

Hoffa was reported to have said that a nationwide halt would be ordered if Congress placed unions under antitrust laws, Kennedy said.

Varying Wheat Program Keeps Senators Battling

By EDWIN B. HASKINSON
WASHINGTON (AP)—Senators had a choice of at least four widely varying wheat programs today as they tried to choose a way to ease mounting grain surpluses.

It appeared likely that no matter what their decision, the present wheat program—which helped build up the huge grain stocks—must continue another year.

On June 1—just 10 days away—Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson must announce a new national wheat program. Present law requires an allotment of at least 55 million acres and a support price of not less than 75 per cent of parity.

Parity is a price determined under farm law to be fair to farmers in relation to their costs. Both the Senate and House would have to agree on a new program before June 1 to make it effective for the coming year. The House, working on a different program, is not expected to act on it before that date.

Wheat is grown under strict production controls, with each farmer allotted a specific number of acres for his crop. He is penalized if he grows more. But de-

Democrats Highly Encouraged by Housing Victory

WASHINGTON (AP)—A walk-away victory by House Democrats in their battle for large-scale federal housing aids enhanced prospects today for other Democratic programs.

By a lustrous 261-160 vote Thursday, the House passed a Democratic-backed $2,100,000,000 housing bill after upsetting every Republican effort to whittle it down to administration size.

The result put Congress squarely at odds with President Eisenhower in the politically tinged battle over spending versus the balanced budget.

A more immediate result was to generate new steam behind proposals for a billion dollars of federal aid for local public works projects, and a quarter billion dollars of government loans and grants to assist depressed areas.

House passage of the housing bill now sends it to conference with the Senate to compromise differences. The Senate earlier this session voted a $2,690,000,000 program.

Republicans were counting on a presidential veto if the bill sticks to present lines. None of the Democrats' major votes gave the Democrats the two-thirds majority they needed to override a veto.

Ike and Dag Confer During Breakfast

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower conferred at breakfast today with Dag Hammarskjöld, secretary general of the United Nations.

Hammarskjöld declined to tell newsmen what he and Eisenhower discussed.

"Private talks are private talks, whether at breakfast or at dinner," the U.N. official said with a smile.

A reporter asked whether Hammarskjöld feels there is any chance the U.N. will be injected into the Berlin crisis in any way. He replied that situation "is very wait-and-seeish."

With Eisenhower and Hammarskjöld at breakfast were Henry Cabot Lodge, U.S. ambassador to the U.N.; and Undersecretary of State C. Douglas Dillon.

21 Delegates To Apalachin Party Seized by Agents

NEW YORK (AP)—Federal agents have seized 21 delegates to the 1957 Apalachin, N.Y., underworld convention after one of the biggest federal crackdowns on a national syndicate which allegedly controls organized crime. They are searching for six more of the delegates.

Shortly after sunrise Thursday, agents began a coast-to-coast roundup in the wake of an indictment charging the 27 with conspiracy to obstruct justice. Those seized were being held in bonds as high as $100,000 for appearance later in federal court.

If convicted each defendant faces up to five years in prison. Thirty-six other men surprised at the upstate convalesce were named in the indictment as conspirators but not defendants.

The government contends the delegates formed the executive board of "the largest criminal syndicate in the country."

The Apalachin meeting Nov. 14, 1957, at the estate of Joseph Barbara Sr., was broken up by New York state police. The latter could find no charges for holding the 63 delegates, who contended they merely "dropped in" on the ailing Barbara. Various grand juries and state agencies have tried to crack the riddle of Apalachin without success.

While the roundup was going on, the hilltop mansion and 53-acre estate of Barbara was sold for $130,000. Russell Terry of Endicott, N.Y., a real estate dealer, said he and Larue Quick of Endicott, N.Y., a builder, will reopen the place to sightseers at a fee to be determined.

OWEGO, N.Y. (AP)—Police Chief Howard Brannan, his wife and their young son are missing from this Tioga County seat, a center for much of the investigation of the notorious Apalachin gangland convulse.

WEST GERMANY'S FOREIGN MINISTER OUTLINES PLAN FOR A SUMMIT MEETING

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Geneva (AP)—U. S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter told Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko today people all over the world have praised the Western plan for a German peace settlement and have been disappointed by Soviet rejection of it.

In a new round of debate in the Big Four conference, Herter argued in effect that the West is winning and the Soviet Union losing the propaganda battle over their rival German programs.

Herter rebuffed a contention by Gromyko that Western insistence of German unification prior to a peace treaty is a barrier to achievement of European security.

Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano told a news conference he believes the United States, Britain and France must obtain Soviet "confirmation of the existing rights of the West in Berlin as a precondition for a summit meeting."

If that commitment could be secured informally from Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko here, he said, it could be made the basis for a formal agreement at the summit. It would bind the Soviet Union to accept the right of the Western powers to keep troops in Berlin and the supply them across East Germany.

After nearly two weeks of formal sessions, the Big Four ministers are now moving into a new phase in which they expect shortly to get down to hard-boiled bargaining in secret over the Berlin and summit issues.

U. S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, and British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd, French Foreign Minister Maurice Couvreur de Murville and Von Brentano decided today the bargaining will have to go on in small secret gatherings over lunch and dinner tables. These will parallel the big meetings at the Palace of Nations—making this a split-level conference developing partly open and partly secret.

Informants also said the Western ministers adopted a strategy of patience for dealing with Gromyko. They decided they can outwait him and need not make the first overtures to get the talk about Berlin started.

Soviet sources are passing out word that Gromyko is not in any hurry either. They say he is prepared to carry on the deadlock indefinitely.

Castro Blames Commies For Labor Agitation

HAVANA (AP)—Prime Minister Fidel Castro today denounced extremist labor agitation for wage raises and hinted that the Communists are behind it.

The revolutionary leader threatened to slap on price and wage controls if pay increases granted by his government result in rises, without government approval, in the cost of essential goods.

He suggested that some labor leaders were conspiring with businessmen to set off a wage-price spiral.

It was the first time Castro has suggested a link between Cuban Reds and acts he called counter-revolutionary. He made the statements during another in a series of marathon TV panel programs on which he is appearing.

Castro acknowledged that his criticism of labor probably would brand him a reactionary. But he said his government has "not sold itself to any imperialism."

Crucial Test Faces Plan to Cut Spending

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
WASHINGTON (AP)—The annual House drive to cut President Eisenhower's money requests, currently a 200-million-dollar success, faces a crucial test next week.

That 1 per cent cut may be tossed into reverse by bills to finance the Defense Department, the Commerce Department and the public works programs. These measures, along with a bill to provide congressional operating funds are due to reach the House then.

Among them they call for the appropriation of between 40 and 50 billion dollars.

How closely Congress follows the President's recommendations on these bills will determine to a large extent the size of the federal budget for the fiscal year starting next July 1. The bills give Congress a direct control over spending. The control is not complete, however, since considerable spending comes from money provided in previous years and from nonappropriation bills allowing Treasury withdrawals.

With one exception, every big 1960 appropriation bill considered this year has been cut by the House. None of them has been (Turn to Page Ten)

Appeal Granted On Decisions On Pinball Machines

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The State Supreme Court announced today it will hear an appeal from Superior Court and Fayette County Court decisions that multiple coin pinball machines are gambling devices.

The appeal probably will be heard at the court's fall session in Pittsburgh.

Final disposition of the case will involve millions of dollars. It is estimated that machines with a total value of 20 million dollars now are operating in Pennsylvania.

The state, which had considered the case as a test, had ruled that the multiple coin machines be outlawed after the Superior Court decision. However, state officials then permitted continued operation of the machines until disposition of the appeal to the Supreme Court.

Last March 18, in an unanimous decision written by Judge William Hirt, the Superior Court upheld a Fayette County Court decision that the multiple-coin pinball machines were illegal gambling devices.

Single coin machines are not involved in the case.

Busy Week to Start Sunday Evening for Y.H.S. Seniors

The next few days will be busy ones for the 83 young people who comprise the Class of 1959 at Youngsville High School, with baccalaureate service Sunday evening, Class Night on Monday, and commencement next Thursday. All three events will be held in the school gymnasium and will begin at eight o'clock.

Delivering the baccalaureate sermon will be the Rev. R. Bruce Ryan, vicar of St. Francis' Episcopal mission of Youngsville, who will use the topic "Study to Show Yourself Approved Unto God."

The service will open with the psalms by Joan Mulvey and Carol Thompson, who will also play for the procession. The Rev. J. Norman Holder, Methodist minister, will give the invocation and the Lord's Prayer, the scripture and evening prayer, and will pronounce the benediction at the program's close.

Harvey Horn will direct the High School Chorus in two anthems, "The Heavens Are Telling" by Beethoven and "Holy Is Thy Name, O Lord" by Vogler, the latter having as soloist Margaret Kwiatkowski. Other music selected are two hymns, "Lead On, O King Eternal" and "Great Is Thy Faithfulness."

Farmer's Plan To Migrate To South America Hits Snag

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP)—Charlie Poliquin's 33-ton ark was held fast on a legal snag today after slowly but successfully maneuvering sandbars, shallow water, rapids and sharp bends of the Minnesota River in the first five miles of his projected voyage to South America.

"Guess I'll just have to sell, or start dismantling it," said the man who sold his farm last year to finance the trip. "That divorce action just knocks the bottom out of things."

Poliquin's pregnant 22-year-old wife, who filed the complaint, won custody Thursday of their 2-year-old daughter and $20 per week support money.

"You put this idea of a South American trip ahead of your marriage," Judge Theodore Knudson told Poliquin, who appeared without an attorney.

"Can you imagine—he wanted me and the baby to go along and that just didn't make any sense," said the brunette Mrs. Poliquin. She left her husband in March and got a secretarial job in Minneapolis. That was shortly before Charlie started edging the 70-foot, aluminum-sheathed houseboat down the winding Minnesota from his Mankato home.

Aviation Club Sponsoring "Fly-in Breakfast" Sunday

Members of the Warren Aviation Club have been busy preparing for a Fly-in Breakfast this Sunday at the Warren Airport. A similar affair was put on by the club last year and met with great success. This type of breakfast is sponsored by many community airports during the summer months with the idea that it provides groups of flyers the opportunity of visiting various airports. Usually a group of pilots from each community will fly in early in the morning to eat breakfast at the sponsoring field. To make it an interesting affair the sponsors offer prizes to pilots for various things. Usually a prize is given to the one who travels farthest; the one who arrives first; the oldest and the youngest.

This year's breakfast is chairmaned by club member Ann Clifton assisted by Mary Jane Zobrest. These girls are both very active members of the Warren Aviation Club. All other members of the club will be on hand to help serve breakfast, direct air traffic, welcome guests and assist pilots in refueling airplanes.

The general public is invited to the breakfast and anyone interested in aviation in Warren County should be on hand to take note of many different types of aircraft which will be at the Warren Field during the day. Sunday morning will see many airplanes in the air over Warren as the pilots arrive in Warren and circle over the town before landing.

It was pointed out by Tom Marsh, president of the Warren Aviation Club, that this is not the annual Air Fair which is held each year. The Club at present is busy engaged preparing to put on an all day Air Fair at the local port sometime in July. This is to be preceded by a hanger dance on Saturday evening followed by a Sunday day long affair of activities.

The Warren Aviation Club is now in the third year of successful operation. Since the formation in the fall of 1956, the club has been the big contributing factor in keeping an interest in aviation at the local field. Members of the club have purchased a total of five airplanes during this period and 25 persons have been successful in learning to fly through the club's facilities.

It is hoped that affairs such as the Fly-in-Breakfast will continue to attract and keep the general public aware of the facilities available to them through modern, small air-craft aviation.

Heart Association Provides Funds For Research

Contributions by the people of Warren County to the Heart Fund have helped make possible the award of grants-in-aid totalling $1,765,233 to 244 scientists across the country who are conducting research on diseases of the heart and blood vessels. It was announced today by H. E. LaPoint, President of the Warren County Heart Association.

The awards were made under the national research support program of the American Heart Association. A total of approximately $3,300,000 for scientific studies in the field of heart and blood vessel diseases will be spent by the American Heart Association during the twelve months beginning July 1.

This is the largest sum ever appropriated by the Association's National Office to support research in a single fiscal year, and represents a commitment of approximately 57 per cent of the income received by the National Office from public contributions to last year's Heart Fund appeal. With the 1959-60 awards, the total channeled into scientific research by the American Heart Association and its affiliates since reorganization as a voluntary health agency in 1953 now stands at more than $44,000,000.

The Mature Parent
Punishment Must Fit Crime, But See What It Is First
BY MRS. WUREL LAWRENCE
Not long after sending Joyce to the store, her mother realized she'd forgotten to put butter on her list. Feeling guilty about sending Joyce back to the store, she became angry when Joyce protested it. She said, "That's enough from you. I can't think of everything with all I have to do to keep this house going."
All the way back to the store, Joyce felt very deprived and abused. On the way home her sense of injury became so pressing that she stole 30 cents of her mother's change—and told her she'd lost the money.
Later, her mother found the money in her coat pocket. After her tearful confession of the theft, her parents said, "No allowance for you this week." But after Joyce had gone to bed, they began to feel that there might be something wrong with this punishment.
There was. As children steal out of an intolerable sense of deprivation, we do not encourage their respect for our money by grabbing all of theirs. We just increase their feeling of poverty. When we feel uneasy about a punishment we have imposed on a child, it is wise to reconsider it.
Sometimes we have to let it stand—and put up with the possibility that we were unjust. We can never be perfectly just. But sometimes we can begin to locate our share in the misbehavior.
We may see that by cutting off verbal protest as Joyce's mother did, we have forced protest by action on the child.
We may remember that we were on the phone when we told Jimmy what time to get home—and were less clear and specific about it than we should have been. And as we recover our own part in Joyce's theft or Jimmy's tardiness, we may see the justice of reducing their punishment.
Today we are all so upset by juvenile crime that we are becoming scared of anything but severity toward children.
So I suggest that we be merciful, not just to Joyce but to ourselves, when we decide to withhold only part of her allowance. As many fears overwhelm us when we discover she's stolen our 30 cents, we can't help imposing the drastic punishment. But as we gain perspective on what really occurred, we should soften it.
To feel obliged to maintain the punishment we've begun to doubt is not just overly severe toward Joyce but awfully intolerant of the panicked parent we were when we imposed it.

By SAUL PETT
(Substituting for Hal Boyle)
NEW YORK (AP)—Some day I'd like to have the courage to: Tell a plumber, or a painter or a carpenter: "If you're not here in an hour, I'll get someone else."

Under-tip a lousy waiter and tell him why. Tell the boss, "If you'll see my secretary, I'm sure she can arrange an appointment for you."

Tell a cab driver, "When I want any of your philosophy, I'll ask for it."

Ask my wife, "What happens to all our money?"

Walk up to the big loud mouth at the bar and belt him with no prior introduction.

Out-race a state trooper, trying to give me a ticket, to the state line.

Ask Queen Elizabeth II, during an audience at Buckingham Palace: "What's a beautiful dame like you doing in a joint like this?"

Electrify my fence against my neighbor's predatory children.

Tell the old lady who always manages to stand near me when I get a seat on a crowded bus: "Madam, the doctors give me three days. How many have you got?"

Stand on my head in a modern art gallery and shout: "It does, too, look better this way."

Ask the doctor: "Be frank, Doc,

Haven't you paid for your college education and equipment 100 times over?"

Ask President Eisenhower: "Are you sure you counted all your strokes, including those two in the rough?"

Say to Tallulah Bankhead at a cocktail party: "Tallulah? Tallulah who?"

Say to a real estate agent: "Yes, but how much will it cost to repair all that picturesque charm?"

Tell the Internal Revenue Service: "I'm tired of this partnership. Why don't you buy me out?"

Strip the gears of the elevator operator, who, at 5 p.m., sings out, "Half a day today?"

Investigate personally the thing called "brand x" and see if it's as bad as all those TV announcers claim.

Ask Gen. Douglas MacArthur: "Did you remember to send a birthday card to Harry Truman?"

Point-blank, ask the captain of the Queen Mary, "Now quick, which is the port side?"

Shout out loud at the phar-mac-hic.

Pull up a chair at the summit conference and say, "All right, men, how about a little seven-card stud, one-eyed jacks wild?"

Rush up to Elizabeth Taylor at a crowded airport, kiss her fondly and then back off, saying, "Sorry, I thought you were my mother-in-law."

other possible way to beat the hand.

West leads a low spade and now East must make the upper-cut play and ruff with the ten. The ten is no good to him if left in his hand and maybe it will embarrass declarer if played then.

It does more than embarrass declarer. It destroys him. He must overruff with a high trump whereupon West's jack of trumps becomes the setting trick.

HOLIDAY REMINDER

The first of the year's big holiday weekends, Memorial Day, looms but a week off. With more cars on the roads than ever, plenty of trouble may be expected, unless everyone exercises extreme care.

We don't have the National Safety Council's traffic fatality estimates yet, but we know they won't be small, even though the holiday itself falls on a Saturday.

As we prepare for our spring excursions on the highways, we might take note of the safety bulletin put out by the Family Economics Bureau of Northwestern National Life Insurance Co.

It makes the point that most motorists have the needed intelligence to drive properly and safely, but generally they don't use more than half that capability when they're behind the wheel.

The half of their mind not attending to driving is taken up with such things as talking, listening to the radio, day-dreaming, gazing at people and the like along the way, thinking about family, home, office and so on.

There are, of course, many, many reasons for automobile accidents. But far from the least of them is the blunt fact, never harped on enough, that drivers for the most part just don't pay strict attention to the business of driving.

In all too many cases, the car is seen, consciously or otherwise, as a kind of floating extension of your living room, your office, your back yard.

Watch the driver in front of you for five minutes. Count the times he turns his head and looks away from the road, and the times he takes his hands off the wheel to gesture, relax as if he were at home on a couch, etc.

You'll be amazed at how incidental the actual driving operation seems to many on the roads. The danger is compounded when we realize how many who stare straight ahead and keep their hands on the wheel still are giving just half their minds to the driving job.

In the end, only one thing can be said to them: The death that can come in one awful second of distraction is not incidental.

The Times-Mirror joins with his host of friends in the community and area in extending congratulations and best wishes to John G. MacDonald, son of the late Attorney and Mrs. Earle V. MacDonald, who realized an ambition of many years' standing, when he was ordained during impressive services at Trinity Memorial Episcopal church this morning.

WORLD TODAY

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—John Foster Dulles, from the moment he resigned as secretary of state because of his spreading cancer, belonged to history. What will his story say of him?

It can never deny that this 71-year-old man gave to the service and welfare of his country tremendous and tireless dedication. He quit only because of the illness which incapacitated him.

But only unfolding events—history itself—can ever give a final answer to the central question of his stewardship: Was he a good secretary of state in the sense that the policy he pursued was wise?

His great task was dealing with communism. If his whole policy toward the world of the Soviets and Red Chinese were to be summed up in a single sentence, this could be it: "Hold tight and don't let them budge an inch."

This was exactly the "containment" policy of his predecessor, former Secretary of State Dean Acheson. It called for military alliances all around the Communist perimeter and economic help to friends and neutrals.

The purpose was direct, obvious and simple: to keep communism from gaining any more ground, militarily, economically or politically. It was essentially a defensive policy, not an aggressive one.

Dulles disagreed with it thoroughly in the 1952 presidential campaign before he became secretary. He called it "negative, futile and immoral." He said it was limited to reacting to Soviet actions. In short, he said the United States should create crises for the Soviet Union instead of letting the Soviet Union create crises for us.

But when he became secretary he took over the Acheson policy, made it his own, even expanded on it with new military alliances. Yet Dulles had hardly taken office before Soviet policy changed, at least outwardly. Forty-four days after Dulles was sworn in, the old dictator, Joseph Stalin, died, and with him went the needlessly savage Soviet foreign policy.

His successors took a softer line although their purpose, and they made no bones about it, was the same: Communist expansion. They managed to increase their influence beyond their borders but American military alliances and power remained firm and the Soviets didn't gain an extra foot of real estate.

Yet, the Soviets and Red Chinese went ahead by leaps in their own internal development, particularly the Soviet Union in the field of weapons which put added pressure on the West to stand back. The cold war between East and West was just as intense when Dulles went to the hospital as when he took office six years ago.

This is why many years must pass before history can give a final verdict on the policy and wisdom of Dulles, for it will take many years and many events as they unfold to show:

1. Whether his policy led, or helped lead, to the ultimate ruin of the Soviet Union or to a peaceful understanding between East and West.

2. Whether, by the time he took office and Stalin died, the Acheson policy was outmoded and Dulles should have sought and pursued a different one of his own making, with more aggressiveness and less defensiveness, or with more friendliness and less hostility.

3. Whether the forces already let loose before he became secretary in 1953—ultimately favorable or unfavorable to the West—were already too powerful to be affected in their direction or destination by him or any one man.

4. Whether he was wise in depending so much on his own thinking or whether he should have made far greater use of the minds of the men around him in the State Department.

No one now—and certainly not Dulles, whose sense of history was too sharp for that—can claim to know positively the answers to the questions just raised. But no one can challenge this about him: he did his best as he saw it.

Here and There

An item in the Weekly Mirror, of sixty years ago today, May 22, 1899, under the heading "Warren Will Celebrate" should interest present-day readers. It says: "The finance committee appointed to solicit funds for the Fourth of July Celebration is meeting with good success and anticipates no difficulty in raising the amount necessary for a grand demonstration. Thus far only a small percentage of the business men approached have refused to contribute toward the fund. Some have given who expect to reap no benefit in a financial way, from the project, but who were sufficiently inspired with a progressive spirit to aid in making the occasion a successful one, which will indirectly rebound to the benefit of the entire community. F. R. Scott is in communication with amusement managers and is confident a program can be arranged which will eclipse anything ever before attempted here. He will be prepared to make a report to the next meeting. Appended is a report of the contributions thus far received: Street Railway Co., $60, George Leonhart, $50, Jake Edwards, $50, Alex Erickson, $35, John Smutz, $35, M. Mead, $20, M. Schweng, $20, R. C. Berkley, $25, J. H. Gray, $20, Ed Walker, $10, S. Sounders, $10, Greek American Confectionery Co., $15, Porter Walker, $5, J. H. Hill & Son, $5, Wallace Bros., $10, Davis Drug Store, $10, Mrs. Moran, $25, Jacob Stricker, $5, Henry Wills, $5, B. G. Gregory, $5, S. J. Cook, $5, Heckathorn & Moffatt, $5, Larry Gleason, $5, John S. Bayer, $5, Berger & Hall, $5, Mrs. Glenn, $2, J. F. Kertcher, $5, Miss Sill, $3."

The murderer evidently was in quest of money, but luckily, Mr. Duncan had deposited all his funds in the bank the day before, so that he lost nothing but his life. The report of a shipwreck said: "The captain swam ashore, and succeeded also in saving the life of his wife. She was insured in the Northern Marine Insurance Company, and carried a full cargo of cement."

Providing a clue as to what nature of incidents aroused the public back in May, 1899, is this item from the column: "Considerable excitement was occasioned about ten o'clock Tuesday by a horse falling through the suspension bridge. The beast is the property of Charles Head, who resides on Conewango avenue, East Side. The equine has a habit of browsing in a pasture at Mr. Head's farm in Pleasant township (South Side) and returning home when it has sufficiently appeased its hunger Tuesday evening when the intelligent beast reached the suspension bridge and was about to cross it to the Warren side it found that the planking had been removed, but that the workmen had left the entrance open, thus inviting accident. The beast, evidently nonplussed at the strange predicament, attempted to cross upon the beams which support the planking which are about two feet apart. The animal missed its footing and straddled two of the beams, thus placing itself in an inextricable position. The moanings of the frightened horse attracted the attention of Chief of Police Babcock, and about fifty men, who proceeded to the rescue. An improvised platform was made about the beast, and after some arduous labors it was lifted from its unfortunate position by means of ropes."

And here's a paragraph from the "Daily Reflections" column of the paper that has a chuckle or two: "The compositor doesn't make all the mistakes in newspapers. Among samples of fine writing printed in a newspaper recently were the following:

Soviet Kids Two Years Ahead While We Dawdle

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Salty Vice Adm. Hyman G. Rickover is best known as the daddy of the atomic submarine, the Shippingport, Pa., atomic power plant, and the fast comeback. But his ideas on the U.S. educational system show he's a free thinker in that field too.

"I'm not afraid of federal aid to education," he says bluntly. "We've had a little of it ever since the Civil War, he explains. We got a little more of it in the Smith-Hughes Vocational Education Act of 1917. And we got still more in the Defense Education Act of last year."

"The only thing wrong with federal aid to education," the admiral believes, "is that there hasn't been enough of it."

Admiral Rickover says he looked all through the Federalist papers of post-Revolutionary War days to see if there was any reference to free education. He found none.

PURITANS HAD A LITTLE compulsory education in Colonial times. But in 1850 Massachusetts required only 12 weeks of schooling a year for children aged 8 to 14. Mississippi was the last state to adopt free, compulsory education. That was in 1920.

Education is freer in most countries of Europe today than it is in the United States, says the admiral. University fees in Europe are the equivalent of $150 to $200 a year. In the U.S. they're up to $2,000, which isn't free.

"Most politicians don't understand the need for education," says the admiral. "They ought to latch on to it."

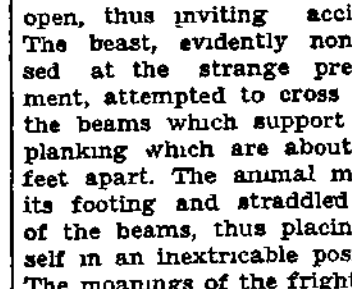

Admiral Rickover thinks educators aren't alive to this situation, either. There's only one union of teachers and all criticism from within is stopped, he says.

John Dewey (the late American educator) is still god and National Education Assn. his apostles.

THE RUSSIANS ADOPTED the Dewey method after their revolution in 1917. Then they threw it out and adopted the British system. Under it, the national government gives help to local school systems with two expedients.

They get no money unless they comply with the rules. And there are competent inspectors to make sure they comply.

The result of this educational reform, says Rickover, is that by 1960 the Soviet will have 1,200,000 scientists to our 900,000.

A University of Michigan team that went to Russia found that Russian high school graduates were two years ahead of ours. Russian graduates are not just technicians, either. They have a good liberal arts training and background. "And they have no drum majorettes," the admiral observes, deadpan.

SOVIET COLLEGE PROFESSORS are now paid the equivalent of factory managers. American teachers, says the admiral, are now paid about what they're worth. But if they were paid a little more, it might induce better people to enter the teaching profession.

It takes 30 or 40 years to make any changes in the educational system and we don't have the best brains in the country working on it, the admiral observes.

Everyone ought to have the opportunity to get the best education he can. But with 57,000 school boards in the country, he asks how is it possible to provide all with equal opportunity?

In contrast to these views on education, presented in the course of an hour-long, rapid fire question-and-answer session with Admiral Rickover, consider a proposed constitutional amendment now before Congress.

It has been introduced by Sen. Herman E. Talmadge (D-Ga.). It would provide that the states and their political subdivisions shall have complete and exclusive control of public schools.

It's nip and tuck every spring between the first robin and the first bicycle. By now, however, most communities are displaying a profusion of both.

The robins have gotten acquainted and are nesting and a good many of the bikes have paired off, too. These are our annual reminders that May is Bicycle Month—a time for both riders and drivers (whether they drive a half-pint import or a ten-ton truck) to consider the safety of the chain-and-sprocket set.

An important innovation of 1959, launched by the Bicycle Institute of America and supported by bicycle shops, hardware and department stores that sell bikes, will be a free safety in-

How to Keep Well

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen
(© 1959: By The Chicago Tribune)

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

CHANGES IN THE AMERICAN DIET

Our dietary habits are changing because revolutionary changes have been made in food technology, preservation, and transportation. The power of persuasion through advertising also deserves considerable credit. Americans are using more margarine, sugar, vegetables, and fruits than they did 50 years ago. We average one potato and five slices of bread less than in 1910 but take one more serving of citrus fruit.

According to Dr. Martha F. Trulson, Harvard nutritionist, there have been many improvements of staples during the last three decades. Salt was iodized in 1924 and now, four-fifths of all household salts contain traces of this mineral.

Enrichment began in 1941 and now 60 per cent of all wheat flour is fortified with iron, riboflavin, niacin, and thiamine. Since 1938, 15,000 I. U. of vitamin A have been added to every pound of margarine and 400 I. U. of vitamin D to every quart of milk.

Many other products are processed with supplemental vitamins, minerals, and proteins to make them more nutritious. This practice is criticized by those who insist this is food adulteration. They do not realize that these additions improve the nutritional qualities of food.

Transportation and preservation have allowed more of us to eat a greater variety during all the months of the year, thus eliminating seasonal deficiencies. Dr. Van Dellen will send a leaflet on the normal diet if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

A change in the amount of fat consumption by the average American is likely to occur because of the widely circulated reports that a relationship exists between animal fats and hardening of the arteries. But the evidence is not great enough at present to warrant wholesale changes in the diet. TOMORROW: Fat boys and girls.

LICHEN PLANUS

D. L. writes: I have lichen planus but the pills the doctor gave me are not doing much good, as the eruption seems to be spreading. Do you think there is any cure for this disease?

REPLY
Keep your fingers crossed. There is no specific remedy for this skin disorder. It may last for months or years and comes and goes for no apparent reason. Spontaneous improvement occurs often. Sometimes a vaccination results in temporary or even permanent cure.

SURPRISE: HE'S HEALTHY

R. F. H. writes: Recently I had a physical, and much to my surprise was found to be in good physical condition even though I weigh only 145 pounds and I'm 6' 1" in height. Do you think the doctor is right?

REPLY
Yes. A person can be in good health even though he does not meet the weight standards for age, height, and sex. The Ivy League type of figure encourages a long, healthy life.

UNSUCCESSFUL GRAFTS

R. J. writes: Three times my doctor has grafted skin on a raw place on my leg but it never "takes." Can you tell me why it doesn't?

REPLY
Poor circulation, the technic, infection, or incompatibility of the grafted skin may be responsible.

ABDOMINAL HERNIA

C. T. writes: What is a ventral hernia?

REPLY
Hernia that develops in the mid-abdomen as a result of a weakened abdominal wall.

Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—The nation's oil industry is calling on the pill and power business today to help it find new fuels and new wonder products.

Already many millions of dollars worth of pills and powders are concocted each year for the industry. They are the catalysts which help bring about marked chemical reactions or changes in crude oil or in its many products.

The push to find new and better catalysts is being stepped up. The goal is to come up with a higher octane gasoline, even more stretchable socks, more heat-defiant cones for missiles—even, perhaps, a successor to the hula hoop, that end product of petroleum that circled the globe.

But the big drive always is to find something entirely new, something as yet undreamed of.

There are some 50,000 varieties of catalysts already in use or under study. Some are as big as marbles and some as fine as pepper.

Nearly 400 tons of just one type—the catalyst used in the oil refining method known as fluid catalytic cracking—is produced each day in the United States. Total annual value of the output is around 40 million dollars.

Since World War II this refining method has been the main one used in cracking oil into gasoline, heating fuel, chemical components and other products.

Although principally a purchaser of catalysts, the petroleum industry spends millions of dollars studying and experimenting with these chemical agents.

Their basic role is to speed up or promote in some other way a desirable rearrangement of the basic components—molecules—of petroleum. In combination with heat and pressure the catalysts change things inside a refining reactor. But they don't change themselves. And under good operating conditions they can be used over and over again.

In spite of the millions being spent in research, there's still a problem, put this way by a chemical engineer:

"We know, after tedious trial and error procedures, that certain types of catalysts work the way we want them to. The fundamental difficulty is that no one to this day really knows why."

specification. Still another free Bike Month service through the same outlets will be the distribution of the Institute's Safety Code—consisting of 12 rules-of-the-road, compiled with the cooperation of police and safety officials over the nation, and which form the basis of virtually every bicycle ordinance in America. Reports from over the nation indicate widespread cooperation of police departments and civic and commercial groups—specifically, Parent-Teacher Associations, Jaycees, Kiwanis and Optimists clubs—in promoting bicycle tours, races, safety demonstrations and in urging the May check-up as an annual event. Certainly the industry is to be commended for its continuing efforts to make bicycle riding both safe and enjoyable as the popularity of youth's favorite vehicle reaches an all-time crest. But it is incumbent upon all who are concerned with the welfare of our up-coming citizens to extend the safety emphasis of Bike Month around the year. The first thing for every bike-rider to do is to take advantage of this free inspection and begin his new "Bike Year" not only in safety, but with peak performance and top enjoyment. We can think of no better team than bicycle dealers and service people, the police, the schools (and certainly the home, where both learning and discipline must begin) working together to achieve a perfect safety score for the community. It can be done by seeing to it that bicycles are kept in proper condition, that all who pedal on public streets and highways are riders of demonstrated ability and that all know—and observe—the rules established for their protection.

Girl Scout Roundup Is Successful

Planned for the purpose of acquainting prospective campers with Camp facilities, as well as providing a period of fellowship among Scouts from the entire area served by the Warren-Forest Council, the event was a tremendous success despite rainy weather which failed to dampen the spirits of the girls attending.

Special features of the program were demonstrations given by several members of the Roundup Patrol of eight girls which will be attending the Senior Roundup near Colorado Springs in July.

Mary Sweeney, Patty Berger, Jean Stewart, Susan Littlefield, Judy Masz, and Jean Allen proved effectiveness of the intensive training in which they have participated in preparation for the Senior Roundup as they prepared a meal over charcoal in the manner in which they will be preparing all their meals at Colorado Springs and as they displayed the art of properly pitching a tent.

Group singing, as usual, proved to be one of the most enjoyable parts of the program. Miss Ann Lesser, of Warren Public Library, conducted song sessions, which included old favorites and several new songs which will become a part of the girls' troop and camp repertoires.

Mrs. Georgia Coyle, librarian at Warren Public Library, added to the enjoyment of the event with her storytelling.

In charge of the Senior Roundup girls who participated in the program was Miss Sally Disroth, field director of the Council, who will accompany the girls to Colorado Springs. The program committee of Council, which planned and executed the Roundup, is headed by Mrs. Raymond Lowe, with the following committee members: Mrs. Coyle, Mrs. Elmer Werlin, Mrs. Carl Allen, and Mrs. Edward Knapp.

The enthusiasm with which the Intermediate Scouts greeted this get-together points to an equally successful event next Monday, May 25th, when a similar event is planned for Brownie Scouts. The place again will be Camp Birdsall Edey, the time from 3:30 until 7:30, with Wednesday, May 27th, chosen as the rain date.

All those attending are to bring their own lunches, soft drinks will be sold and coffee will be available for adults. A similar program will be in store for those attending next Monday's Brownie Roundup.

Honors in Scouting

Charles W. Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Brown, Warren RD 1, will receive the God and Country Award Sunday at the morning worship service in the United Presbyterian church of North Warren. This is the highest religious award in Scouting.

"Chuck", as his friends know him, started his Scouting with Troop 13, North Warren, in May, 1957, with the rank of Tenderfoot, advancing to Second Class Scout rank March 30, 1958 and to First Class Scout on October 15, 1958. He received the Star award February 5, 1959.

The honored Scout is the first in over 30 years of Scouting in North Warren and in the history of the North Warren Presbyterian church to receive this coveted award. He has studied religious education faithfully for over a year under the guidance of his pastor, the Rev. Robert C. Knapp.

Chuck's ambition in Scouting now is to follow in his father's footsteps and become an Eagle Scout.

Pesticide Developed To Kill Orchard Mice

HARRISBURG (AP)—A pesticide (endrin) for destroying orchard mice can threaten human life if used carelessly. Dr. Charles L. Wilbar, state health secretary, warns.

He said Thursday that reports received by the department showed that the highly toxic substance—available commercially in concentrate, powder or dust form—has been entering streams, killing fish and livestock.

"Indiscriminate use of this poison means an ever-present threat to persons using water likely to be contaminated by spills or runoff containing the pesticide," he said.

Youngsville Key Club Installation By Kiwanis Club

YOUNGVILLE—At the regular dinner-meeting of Kiwanis Club Tuesday evening, Waide Ingols installed the following officers for the club-sponsored High School Key Club: President, Manfred Rydholm; vice president, Bob Anderson; secretary, Bob Peterson; treasurer, Bob Yucha; and Joe Aiello, lieutenant governor of the District.

Held in the Methodist church parlors, there were 31 members and eight guests in attendance. The Rev. J. Norman Holder gave the invocation; Jesse Lyon led group singing; Best Wishes were extended Deac Lay for a May 22nd birthday.

Joe Aiello reported on the District Workshop of Pennsylvania Key Club at Harrisburg May 9 and received from Charles Engstrom his lieutenant governor's pin. Both young men expressed appreciation to Mr. Ingols and the Kiwanians for cooperation received.

"The boys' and girls' committee of Youngsville Kiwanis Club has undertaken as a project sponsoring of construction of community tennis courts to be located on Island Park and to become the property of Youngsville Borough. Present plans call for a blacktop area enclosed by link-chain fencing. Individual letters will be forwarded to all local organizations and businesses, requesting financial assistance. WINTERFunds From Poppy Days Are Devoted to Rehabilitation

Asking the public's support of its Poppy Days today and Saturday, Chief Complanter American Legion Auxiliary reminds that all funds from these sales are devoted to veteran rehabilitation and welfare work.

In this connection, it is also interesting to note the American Legion was the first national organization to adopt the poppy for its memorial flower; this action dating back to September 27, 1920, with the Auxiliary following suit in October, 1921.

The little poppies are made by hand of red crepe paper by disabled veterans of all wars in hospitals and workrooms in 40 states and more than 25 million of them will be offered for sale today and tomorrow by American Legion Auxiliary volunteers across the nation.

Auxiliary officers have pledged profits 100% to welfare relief of servicemen and women and their families.

Thus, they point out, "we are fulfilling the true meaning of the poppy—an emblem of faith, faith which is being kept with all who died by service to the living."

The public is asked to help with this great work, by buying poppies and helping to pay tribute to all who died in service.

YOUNGVILLE

YOUNGVILLE — There were 24 persons present Monday evening for the dinner-meeting held in St. Luke's dining hall by Youngsville Business People's Association.

Tables were beautifully decorated with lilacs and matching orchid appointments. Earl Young voiced the table grace. After the delicious stuffed pork chop dinner served by the church Altar Society, there was a lengthy discussion of property owned by the Association and what might be done to promote it.

A very interesting report was given by Howard Husted on his recent trip to Washington, D. C., in the interests of the Kinzua Dam project.

Beatty Junior Hi-Y Club members ask the support of all their friends in the paper collection to be conducted tomorrow. By this means, the boys hope to raise $50 to send officers to Washington, Pa., for a training conference at Washington and Jefferson College; a World Service Fund amounting to 10% of the receipts, and a little left over for the treasury. Both papers and magazines will be accepted and should be tied in bundles and available at house or curb. Those wishing collections made are asked to call the YMCA, 1000 or 1001, or Dave Fuelhart, 1212.

The Vineland group, one of the first to make requests for government aid, has recommended a heavy government egg and hen buying program as well as other relief measures.

The POWER of FAITH
by Howard Brown

FAITH THAT AMERICANS LIVE BY—7
With man on the threshold of space exploration, I cornered one of America's leading space scientists in a Buffalo hotel and asked him if faith would be significant to the first space man.
"It will be important to him," said Dr. Everett T. Welmers, who is assistant to the president of Bell Aircraft for long range planning, and director of the Research Center, "because in the loneliness of space he will know he is not alone."
There is no contradiction, he went on, between religion and science.
"One of the first commandments of the Bible is that man should take dominion over and conquer the earth. Man is expected to understand and control it. Science helps towards that end."
As for his own faith, Dr. Welmers asserted, "It's been a natural part of my life since childhood."
On Sundays, he teaches the men's Bible class in Central Presbyterian Church. He has been an elder, a Sunday school superintendent, president of the presbytery council. Also he is a vice president of the New York Synod Council of Presbyterian Men.
"I feel I'm accomplishing as much on Sunday morning," he commented, "as any other day. Accomplishments in the field of religion are as real as in the field of science."

Religion in the News

The long controversy surrounding the 100-year-old Southern Baptist Theological Seminary in Louisville, Ky., flamed anew at the Southern Baptist Convention's annual meeting during the past week.

The seminary, oldest in the denomination, made news last year when 13 of its 44 professors were fired in an apparently insoluble disagreement with its president, the Rev. Dr. Duke K. McCall.

As a result, the seminary faces loss of its accreditation by the American Assn. of Theological Schools, and Southern Baptists are thinking of withdrawing all six of their seminaries from the association.

Last week, at the denomination's Louisville convention, the Rev. James S. Bulman of East Spencer, N.C., a frequent critic of Southern Baptist procedures, leveled a new charge against the embattled seminary. He said he has "what I consider clear and conclusive evidence" that the seminary is teaching that Christ's virgin birth and resurrection may be looked upon as myths—a contradiction of Southern Baptist doctrine.

Dr. McCall has denied that the seminary departs from the orthodox theological position.

The United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A., meeting in Indianapolis, announced plans to evangelize an unspecified Midwestern city through the use of newspaper advertising.

Dr. Glenn Warner Moore, secretary of the denomination's general council, said the same type of project was tried on a non-denominational basis in Rochester, N.Y., with gratifying results.

"We want to interest people in Christianity—not just the Presbyterian church," he said. "In planning these ads we are thinking of people we never see in church."

He said he has "what I consider

"As far as I know, the Republican position is unchanged," he told a newsmen.
"There are areas, however, where we should be able to work out an agreement on taxes," he declined however, to discuss them.
Berger said he doubted that the tax impasse would result in a marathon session of the Legislature, now in its fifth month.
"It all depends on how quickly the Democratic leadership in the House acts on a program and sends it to the (GOP-controlled) Senate," said Berger. "Of course I'm not saying that Republicans in the Senate are going to act fast on any program the House sends us."

Police said Branning and a patrolman left here Monday morning to drive a new police patrol car to an Endicott garage for a checkup. The patrolman reported that the chief left the garage and said he would get another ride back to Owego. The distance is 13 miles.
His wife told a reporter she had no idea where he was.
Neighbors said Mrs. Branning, her son and a woman whom they did not know left the Branning home about midmorning. They took luggage with them, the neighbors said.

Starkweather, a 5-foot-5, bowlegged, redheaded, vaulted into notoriety in January 1958.
Accompanied by his 14-year-old sweetheart Carl Ann Fugate, he set out on a killing spree. Nine victims in and around Lincoln were counted in three days, among them Carl's mother, stepfather and baby sister.
The trail ended with capture of the pair near Douglas, Wyo., Jan. 29 after a parting-shot killing of a shoe salesman on a Wyoming highway. Starkweather subsequently admitted the previously unsolved slaying of a Lincoln filling station attendant, to bring his string to 11.
Starkweather was tried specifically in the Jan. 27 shooting of a Bennet, Neb., high school junior, Robert Jensen, whose body was found in a storm cave with that of his girl friend Carl King. Carl, now 15, was tried six months later, was convicted of murder on grounds she aided and abetted Starkweather in the Jensen killing. She drew a life sentence. Her appeal to the State Supreme Court is pending.

Storm Knocks Trees Over Electric Lines

A small, but wicked wind, rain and hail storm by-passed Warren early Thursday evening, but struck in the Kinzua, Clarendon and Sheffield areas.
Penelec crews were between Jink's Hotel and the fire tower below Kinzua until early today repairing broken lines. Several trees were uprooted in the strong gusts of wind and fell across the lines. Workmen were forced to walk into the troubled area as there are no accessible roads.
Electric service was restored this morning.
The storm whipped up in the southeast, spattering hail stones in a northward manner backed by the strong winds and a heavy rain.
Rain is forecast for tonight and Saturday.

Nothing New to Report On Dulles' Condition

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department says there is nothing new to report on the condition of John Foster Dulles.

Dulles, 71, has been hospitalized with cancer most of the time since early February. His condition was complicated by pneumonia two weeks ago.

Prisoner Linked With Rape Death Through Blood Tests

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—Scientific police sleuthing, tracing the blood line of a baby born to a rapist's white victim, has tied a Negro inmate of Wisconsin State Prison to the rape slaying of a suburban housewife, Edna Mauch.
Milwaukee County Dist. Atty. William McCauley and his counterpart in adjoining Waukesha County, George Lawler, planned to question the 37-year-old inmate today at Waupun. They refused to identify him.
The man was sentenced originally to a 1-3/4-year term for the rape of a 16-year-old girl in 1954. He was paroled last April but a few days after Mrs. Mauch was killed he was returned to prison for rape of another woman.
Mrs. Mauch, 57, was raped at her Wauwatosa home and beaten to death with a brick in a sock last Aug. 9.
Analysis of material found in the blood-stained room showed the killer had a rare type B blood.
So does a Negro child born recently to a white housewife raped last June in her home in New Berlin in Waukesha County.
The inmate, according to Capt. Alvin Basting of the Wauwatosa police, has type AB or B blood. He was arrested a few hours after Mrs. Mauch was killed, but discarded as a figure in the case when he furnished an alibi. His story collapsed when a corroborating witness was found this week and denied the two men were together.
The New Berlin woman told authorities her head was covered by a pillow and she never saw her attacker. From his speech, she assumed he was a Negro.

West Germany's President Delivers Address at Annapolis

ministers deployed their forces as for a military campaign.
The session began at 3:32 p. m. 9:32 a. m. EST.
Herter was assigned to discuss European security, and Couve de Murville was given the problem of Berlin to talk about. Lloyd was named cleanup man with the task of re-appearing instantly to Gromyko if he launched into a new attack on the West.
In calling at his news conference for a Soviet pledge on Berlin, Von Brentano said the Soviets should also display a genuine readiness for a solution of the German question before the Western government chiefs agree to a meeting with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.
Von Brentano did not reply when asked if he had formal assurance from the Western Big Three that they would refuse to attend a summit parley if the Soviets would not assure Western rights in Berlin.
U. S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter already has warned Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko that President Eisenhower will refuse to attend a summit conference if the Soviets set some new deadline for a Communist squeeze play on Berlin.
Khrushchev originally demanded that the Western powers withdraw their garrisons by May 27. He postponed the deadline indefinitely to clear the way for the Big Four conference to discuss the future of Germany and the Berlin issue.
As the second week of the conference here drew to a close, the Western ministers expected Gromyko to abandon his sharp attacks on Allied military policy after a stiff warning from Herter.
The American secretary's rebuke at the Big Four conference Thursday implied that Gromyko would poison the atmosphere of the sessions and endanger the prospects of a summit meeting if he continued to denounce the Western alliance as aggressive.
The Western ministers called a strategy meeting today to consider whether to try to wind up the deadlock debate on a German peace settlement and get the conference into negotiations on the Berlin crisis.
Barring an unexpected change of signals, the former Big Four sessions in the Palace of Nations later today was slated to bring another spate of speeches on details of the contradictory Western and Soviet proposals for Germany.

The central point of the deadlock is that the Soviet Union wants to sign an immediate peace treaty with East and West Germany while the Western powers insist Germany must be unified first.
Disagreement over how long this seemingly fruitless debate should be prolonged was reported developing again within the Western camp. Informants said French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville, on instructions from President Charles de Gaulle, was standing firm against any move to shelve the full Western package proposal and negotiate with Gromyko for a stopgap arrangement on Berlin in exchange for Western agreement to attend a summit conference.
The French insist that the Soviets must make the first move and modify their demand that the Allies get out of West Berlin. But British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd is reported to feel the West has played the waiting game long enough. He is said to favor Herter taking the lead in trying to get the conference into a new phase early next week.

West Germany's President Delivers Address at Annapolis
By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—President Eisenhower said today that without a sound economy at home, the United States could soon become powerless abroad.
In this time of armed international uneasiness an unstable home front economy could jeopardize "our prosperity, our security, our freedom," he said.
Eisenhower sounded a new call for prudence in federal spending in a speech prepared for ceremonies dedicating a new auditorium at historic St. John's College. The auditorium, part of a $2,100,000 complex of new buildings on the campus, is named for Francis Scott Key, composer of "The Star Spangled Banner" and who was a graduate of St. John's.

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A 2-year-old Pittsburgh boy was killed and his mother critically injured Thursday night when an auto pinned them against a building on the city's North Side.
Before hitting the two, the car had collided with three other autos, police said.

Mrs. Pifer and her son were out walking. The car was driven by Mrs. Dolores Caye, 32, of Pittsburgh. She was not hurt.

Motions for Acquittal In Bank Case Rejected
PITTSBURGH (AP)—Defense attorneys have failed to obtain directed verdicts of acquittal for five former officials of the Old Freeport Bank.
Judge John Miller of U. S. District Court Thursday rejected motions for acquittal made by Atty. Alexander Cooper and his aide, Melvin Schwartz.

The judge's action left it to a jury of eight men and four women to determine the guilt or innocence of the defendants.

An indictment charges the defendants on 17 counts, including conspiracy to take illegal commissions on loans, embezzlement and false entry.

Reading Off Critical Unemployment List

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Labor Department has removed Reading, Pa., from its critical unemployment list because better-than-seasonal spring hiring has soaked up the idle.
Reading was among 14 major labor areas removed from the list Thursday.
Pittsburgh was switched to the 6.9 per cent unemployment group from the 9-12 per cent group. Altoona, Pa., went to 9-12 per cent from 12 per cent.

Four communities described by the department as non-major labor areas were added to the critical unemployment list. They included Bradford and Meadville, Pa.

Flood Control Project For Butler County Area
WASHINGTON (AP)—A $1,999,500 flood control project on Conoquessing Creek in Butler County, Pa., was considered by the House Public Works Committee Thursday for inclusion in an omnibus rivers and harbors bill. No final action was taken.
Col. Arthur C. Nauman, assistant chief of Army Engineers, testified the project has the approval of the Engineers and the Budget Bureau.
The federal cost of the project is estimated at $1,558,700 with local interests to contribute $440,800 in lands, rights of way and soil disposal areas.
The project consists of widening, deepening and straightening of about four miles of the creek's channel through and below the city of Butler.

Four Tots And Dad Lose Lives In Coast Blaze

ONTARIO, Calif. (AP)—Four small children and their father died Thursday night when flames raced through their home.
Robert Burk, 29, an unemployed dairy worker, was baby-sitting with the children while his wife, Joan, 26, was working as a waitress at a coffee shop.
"There was a noise like an explosion," said one neighbor, "and the place was in flames."
Neighbors tried to fight through the fire but were forced back. Firemen forced their way in behind fire hoses and pulled out Burk and the children.

The father and a daughter, Barbara, 6, were pronounced dead at the scene. Tony, 7, Terry, 4, and Bobby Lynn, 2, were pronounced dead at nearby hospitals.
Fire Chief Lloyd Hopkins said he believed a cigarette started the fire in a living room couch. Burk's body was found nearby.

Total damage, state police said, was $1,000.

STRIKE STILL ON

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A strike of union carpenters at the missile test center has entered its second week with no settlement in sight.

Matter of FACT

The Gulf of Mexico is landlocked on all sides except for two channels to the open seas. The Yucatan Channel, 130 miles wide, opens into the Caribbean, and the Straits of Florida, about 110 miles wide, lead to the Atlantic Ocean. Between these two straits lies the island of Cuba. The gulf covers 700,000 square miles and averages 5,000 feet deep.

This is the new length for men's shorts. They're called Nassau Walkers.

SHE'LL REMARRY—Mrs. Rita Steeves, 23, who divorced Air Force Lt. David Steeves, survivor of a 54-day ordeal in the California High Sierras in 1957, plans to remarry. She'll wed Andrew J. Demotes, 27, a Stratford, Conn., accountant.

WATCH HIM—Daniel Inouye is the first man of Japanese ancestry with a chance to win election to the U. S. Senate. The 34-year-old lawyer-businessman is a candidate to represent soon-to-be state of Hawaii.

U. S. Delegates Show Up Today In Bow Ties

GENEVA (AP)—Two top members of the U. S. delegation to the foreign ministers conference showed up today at a staff meeting in bow ties.
Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, who wears bows habitually, raised his eyebrows at Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy and Livingston T. Merchant, assistant secretary of state for European affairs.
The pair said they adopted Herter's favorite haberdashery to give him moral support.

PICTURE NEWS

AROUND THE WORLD

SOLDIERLY CREW—Great White Lady of Iodar, who is owned by D. L. Mosier of San Bruno, Calif., is looking on as her seven rare pups tackle a pan of milk. They're named Colonel, Major, Captain, Lieutenant, Sergeant, Corporal and Private.

SARONG LOOK — That's what's come to men's bathing trunks with the introduction of this snug-fitting, half-skirt creation. The all-wool swim trunks is the newest design to bid for popularity.

CREEPY—When Mrs. Isobel Cole takes her pet for a walk in Winton, England, it's more of a problem than for most pet owners. She owns a four-foot alligator, and this native of the Amazon has been the family pet for two years. Mrs. Cole claims it's more lovable than a dog, and it eats just two meals a week; a pound of steak each time.

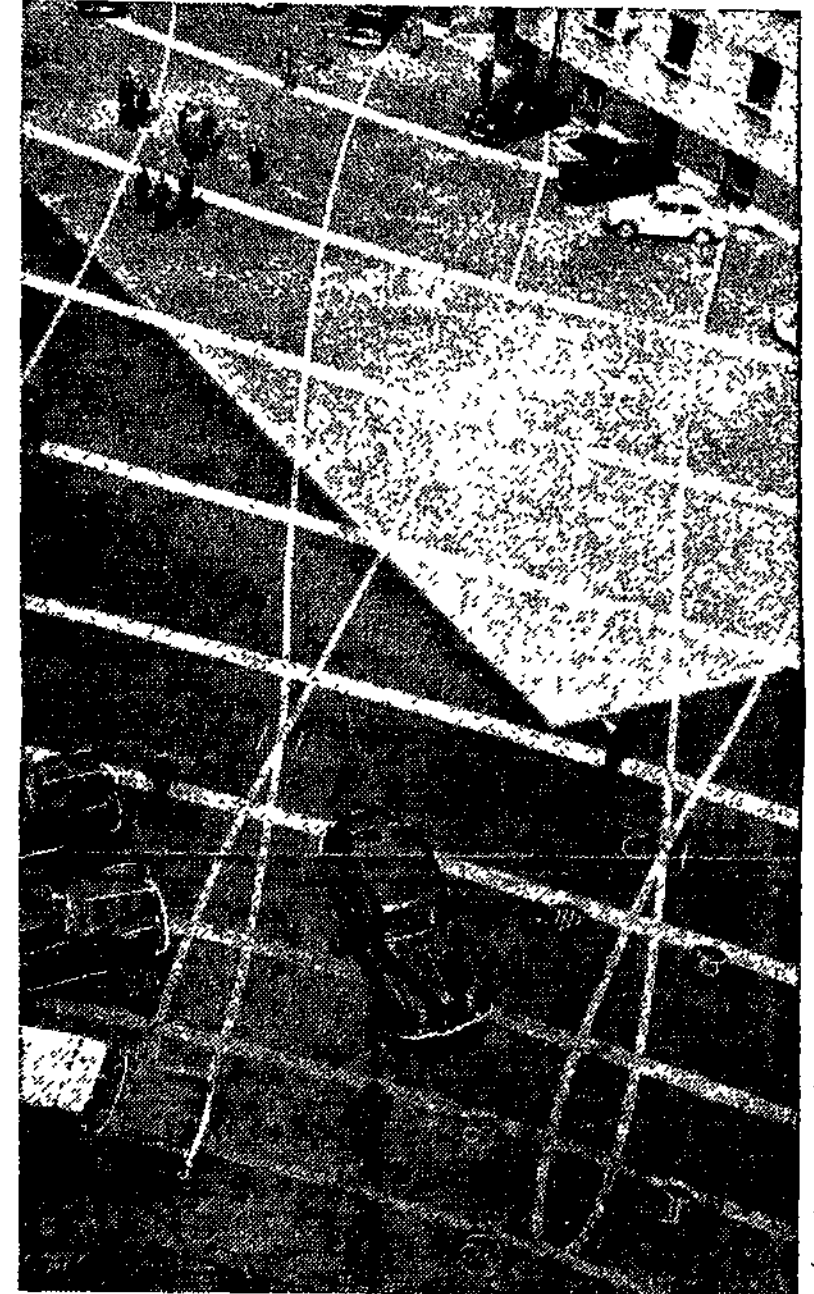

OOPS!—When some of the dancers from the new musical hit, "Destry Rides Again," visited Steeplechase Park at New York's Coney Island, one of them had this mishap. As Shelly Chaplan stepped over the traditional air hole, Sharon Shore (left), who had already gone through this, laughed up a storm.

LADIES' AID—As they bring up the rear, two little girls in Jersey City, N. J., just couldn't resist the lure of falling in for a taste of military life. They're trailing along behind the ROTC drill team of St. Peter's College. The boys were marching back to the school after taking part in a review nearby, and the girls joined the parade.

A LESSON LEARNED—In Boston, Mass., the police and the Safety Education unit organized this dramatic safety demonstration. The youngsters lying on the ground with their bikes serve as a reminder to motorists to be on the watch for cyclists. There were 1,337 such accidents in Massachusetts last year; four youngsters died and 70 others were badly injured.

FOR OVER-TIME PARKING—Big enough to park cars on, the world's biggest timepiece sprawls over the yard of the new West German Patent Office in Munich. The maze of lines, made of white cobblestones, forms a giant sundial where time is indicated by the shadow of a nearby roof. The curved lines marked with signs of the zodiac adjust the differences in time caused by the sun's changing orbit at different times of the year. This picture was made at 11:40 a.m.

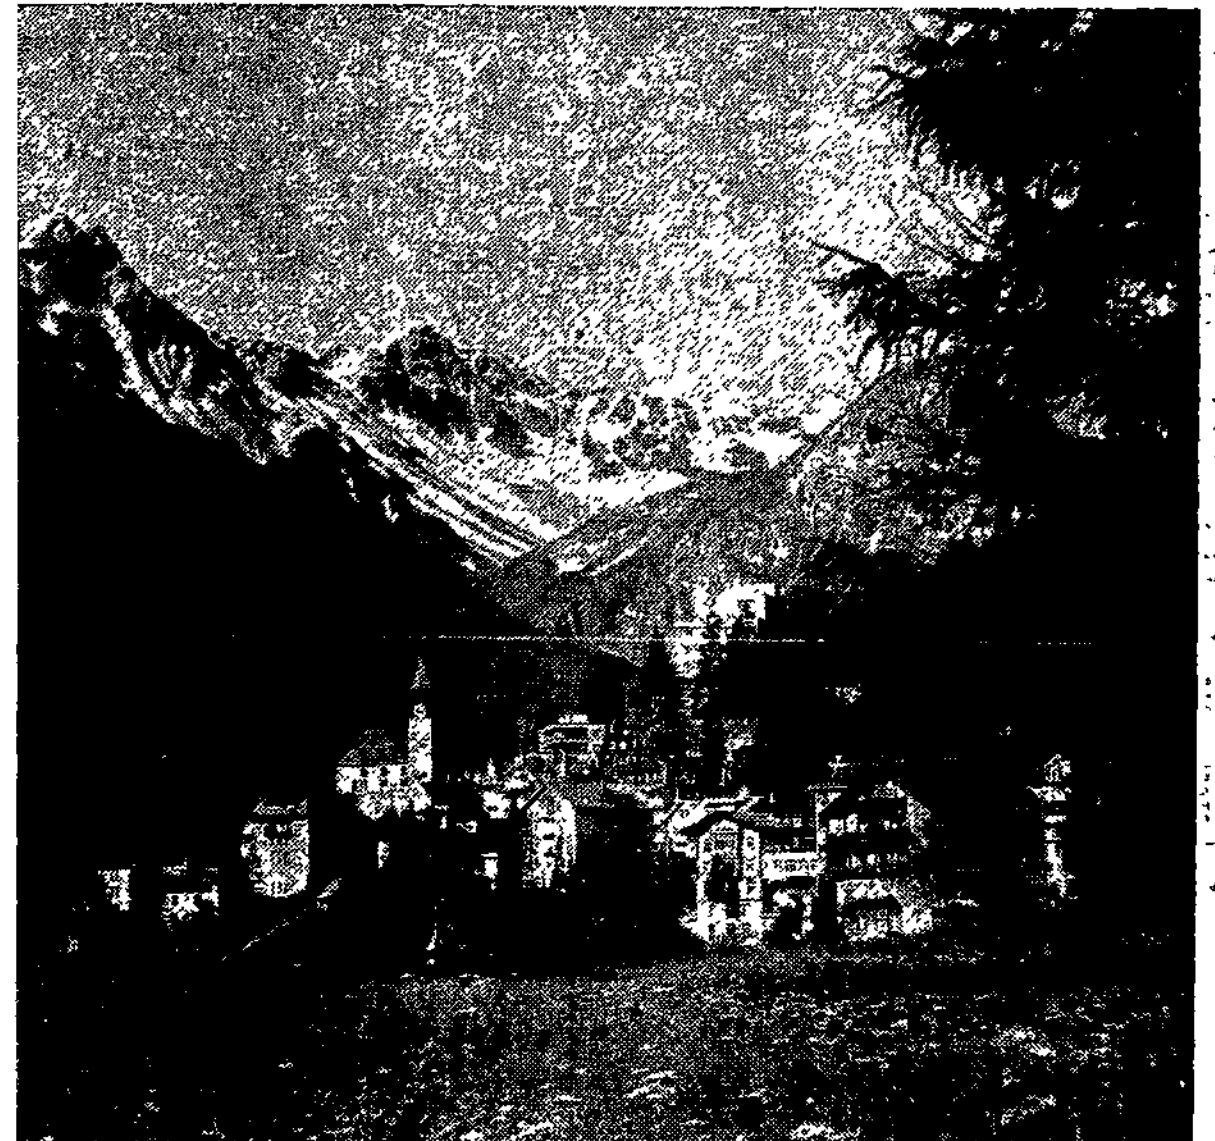

GETTING HIS SIGHTS—Howard D. Potter is shown with the large reflector telescope he uses to make striking photos of the heavens in Schenectady, N. Y. Designed for astronomical work, the hand-built eight-inch telescope, weighing about 100 pounds, took nearly four years to construct. Potter has taken some remarkable closeup photos of the moon.

PAINT TIME—Bikini-clad model Lynn Lyckles got tired of posing for other artists in Miami, Fla., and she's throwing inhibitions to the wind as she uses her own creative talent to paint. Lynn joined other art students in painting a huge billboard to draw attention to their masked ball.

NAIL SAVER — Scratching fingernails are in protective custody in this new baby nightgown with hand-cuffs, which can cover the hands or be folded back to form a cuff. The nightgown and its matching cribsheet are done in an attractive, bright print.

HEAVEN ON EARTH—This view of Arosa, Switzerland, shows the Erzhorn and Rothorn Mountains in the background, the tallest of which is 9,184 feet high. The town, which is 6,660 feet above sea level, is featuring special summer attractions for American tourists. A new golf course is about to open, and there's fishing, tennis, swimming and rowing, too.

Sound Pitching And Hitting Aids To Buc Victories

ST. LOUIS (AP)—For the first time being at least, the Pittsburgh Pirates have regained three vital winning ingredients they've been lacking lately—steady pitching, sound fielding and consistent hitting.

The combination clicked for a 7-2 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals Thursday night, enabling the Pirates to salvage the finale of their three-game series.

Veteran southpaw Harvey Haddix supplied the pitching, spacing 10 hits for his third triumph as against two setbacks.

His teammates pounded 12 hits, three each by Don Hoak and Bill Virdon. Hoak and Bill Mazeroski each drove across two runs. Two of Hoak's hits were doubles.

Haddix got flawless support from the field, something other Pirate pitchers haven't had recently.

Manager Danny Murtaugh, who gave his players a tongue-lashing after their loss to St. Louis Tuesday night, made two changes in his lineup. Dick Schofield replaced Dick Groat at short, and Rocky Nelson went to first where Dick Stuart and Ted Kluszewski had been alternating.

Schofield got two walks and a single, and Nelson scored a run after drawing a pass.

As it turned out, Pittsburgh wrapped up the game in the first inning, pounding Lindy McDaniel off the mound with three runs on four hits.

Schofield walked to lead off the inning. Virdon singled to center and when Gino Cimoli fumbled the ball, Schofield raced to third. After Smokey Burgess went out, Nelson walked to fill the bases. McDaniel took Bob Skinner's tap and forced Schofield at the plate. But Mazeroski rapped a two-run single and Hoak dropped one in center for the third run.

McDaniel was charged with the loss, his fifth against two victories.

Ingo's Back Injury Seldom Used Muscle

NEW YORK (AP)—Aside from a brief interruption in his training program, Ingemar Johansson doesn't think his aching back is too serious.

"I had this happen to me before, training for a fight, and I feel a few days rest will cure it," said the Swedish heavyweight who will meet champion Floyd Patterson in a title bout at Yankee Stadium June 25.

Johansson said he strained what he termed a seldom used back muscle in the training ring Tuesday. He visited a chiropractor Thursday and had a right sacroiliac joint put back in place.

Gates Open for Formation Of Another Major League

By HAROLD HARRISON
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Baseball's major leagues have opened the gate for the formation of a third loop with major league status.

Operating heads of the 16 National and American League clubs agreed unanimously Thursday "to favorably consider" applications for major league status by "an acceptable group of night clubs which could qualify."

Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick says his personal belief is that such a league is inevitable and that it certainly will come within five years.

An even more optimistic report came from William Shea of New York's Major's Committee on Baseball. He said: "We ought to be ready in four or five weeks to do something. The third major league should be in the formative stage by that time."

Frick's statement, at the wind-up of a hastily called meeting, said, "There is no existing plan to expand the present major leagues." By that he meant expansion of the National and American leagues to 10 or 12 club organizations.

The statement from the club owners loosed a flood of speculation.

Yanks Have Opportunity To Escape Cellar by Weekend

By ED WILKS
AP Sports Writer

The New York Yankees could escape the cellar in 24 hours.

By winning the first two games of their four-game set against the Baltimore Orioles, the Yankees could jump to sixth place—if seventh-place Detroit does no better than split two games at Cleveland, and Washington can take two from sixth-place Boston in that span.

This is no pitch to resurrect the Yankees. But it does point out that it's a bit early to start the requiem for the champion.

The task of pulling out of the cellar doesn't figure to be easy. The Yankees have lost four in a row to the Orioles, who are third, just 2 1/2 games behind first-place

Rickey Witness At Hearing On Discrimination

By JACK LYNCH
HARRISBURG (AP)—Negroes and members of other minority groups should be allowed to live where they please "when qualified by culture and ability to pay," says the man who broke the color line in major league baseball.

Branch Rickey Sr., board chairman of the Pittsburgh Pirates, forcefully drove home this point Thursday while testifying for a bill to ban discrimination in the sale and rental of housing in Pennsylvania.

"This is a moral issue, not a political issue," he told a public hearing of the House Law and Order Committee.

"This is an issue where we have to have a sense of public duty and where we do not deviate from that duty."

Alternately lowering and raising his voice and gesturing to emphasize his points, the 77-year-old Rickey reminded the committee of the Biblical parable of the Good Samaritan with its theme, "Who is my Neighbor?"

Rickey said the proposed law would work against the "fears

Prelim Davis Cup Team Nominated; Olmedo, 19 Others

SEATTLE (AP)—The U. S. Lawn Tennis Assn., casting a possessive eye on the huge silver bowl that denotes world tennis supremacy, Thursday nominated Peruvian Alex Olmedo and 19 others to a preliminary, 11-man Davis Cup team for 1959.

Olmedo, a University of Southern California student, almost singlehandedly wrested the Davis Cup from Australia last year, the Peruvian won two singles matches and teamed with Ham Richardson for a doubles victory.

Naming of the preliminary cup team came only a few minutes before Davis Cup team Capt. Perry Jones presented the huge trophy to Victor Denny of Seattle, president of the USLTA.

The four-man Davis Cup squad will be selected July 1 and will defend the cup at Forest Hills, N.Y., Aug. 28-29-30.

Pirate Manager Shuffles Lineup And Team Wins

By ED WILKS
AP Sports Writer

Pittsburgh Manager Danny Murtaugh might be wondering why he didn't speak up sooner. His lecture on curfew and all didn't sink in until he shuffled the lineup, but then his sixth-place Pirates got the idea.

Thursday night they put aside a slump that had draped them with four defeats in five games and scored a 12-hit, errorless 7-2 victory at St. Louis.

Murtaugh, who reminded his Bucs of the club's 2 a. m. curfew after they lost the Tuesday opener at St. Louis, shook up the lineup after they were whipped again Wednesday. He replaced shortstop Dick Groat with Dick Schofield and made Rocky Nelson his first baseman in place of the alternating Ted Kluszewski and Dick Stuart.

The worst side of the year came to an end in the only other National League game scheduled when the Philadelphia Phillies, who had lost eight in a row, won 3-0 at Chicago behind Ruben Gomez's four-hit pitching.

Boston beat Kansas City 5-0 in the only American League game scheduled.

The Pirates ripped into Cardinal right-hander Lindy McDaniel (2-5) for three runs in the first inning, then scored three in the third against reliever Ernie Broglio. Southpaw Harvey Haddix (3-2) was the winner.

Gomez and Cub rookie Bob Anderson had a shutout duel going until the eighth. Then the Phils, who had managed just two hits, scored twice on singles by Willie Jones and Gomez, a double by Sparky Anderson and sacrifice flies by Jim Hegan and Richie Ashburn.

Stateline Rivalry At Peak Saturday Night

Warren's Emory Mahan and Jim Patrick of Wellsville, N. Y., are itching for a shot at Brookway speedster Squirt Johns in the 25-lap late model feature event Saturday night at Stateline Speedway.

Neither one had a chance last Saturday when Johns whizzed to his second consecutive feature triumph. They were involved in a semi-final mishap which put them out of commission the rest of the night.

Hyde Russell of Kane may also be a man to watch when Saturday's program begins at 8:30. He's breaking in a new car built by Youngsville's Frank Ruhlman.

King Henry VIII had six wives, two of whom were beheaded—Anne Boleyn and Katherine Howard.

Jimmy Dykes Says Tigers Can Use Good Bull Pen

By WHITNEY MARTIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Jimmy Dykes says there is nothing wrong with his Detroit Tigers that a good bullpen wouldn't cure.

"It's a good ball club," the veteran of many managerial and coaching jobs says of the team he suddenly found himself directing about three weeks ago when Bill Norman was fired.

"The one thing wrong is that when we have to go to the bullpen we're in trouble. We could use one or two more starters, too."

The Tigers' bullpen trouble traces to the inability of Paul Foytack to perform as expected. He's started eight times and has yet to go the route.

With Foytack faltering, it was necessary to bring in Don Mossi from the bullpen to take up the slack. Mossi has been doing fine in his new role, but is sorely missed in relief.

The original Tiger bullpen had as its standbys Mossi, Ray Narleski and Tom Morgan. Morgan has been ill. Narleski got away to a terrible start, but has been good in two of his last three relief stints.

Dykes makes no secret of his hopes that a deal might be made for a pitcher or two.

Dykes declines to take credit for the club's improved showing since he took over as manager. Prior to that time it had won 2 games and lost 15. Under his direction it has won 10 and lost 5.

"The hitting is good," he observes. "But unless we get complete games from our starters we're in for a tough time."

Puffing Stance Is Important

Your objective in taking the putting stance should be:

1. To permit free passage of the hands and arms.
2. A comfortable position.

There should be a minimum of tension.

Place about 80 per cent of the weight on the left foot, evenly distributed between the ball and the heel. This puts me in a comfortable position and helps to eliminate body action.

A highly important requisite is important topspin by keeping the putter low to the turf both on the backstroke and follow through, as I am doing in the accompanying illustration drawn at Tequesta.

The reverse overlap grip gives me the best results. The thumbs are down the top of the shaft, as I previously pointed out. The forefinger of the left hand overlaps the little finger of the right.

While putting is primarily a right-hand stroke, the left hand is a deterrent to the right in its tendency to turn over and close the club face at contact.

NEXT: The mechanics of the putting stroke.

Rookie Veech Leads Pros at Memphis

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Tom Veech of Milwaukee, a rookie with a host of old pros breathing down his neck, held a narrow lead today in the $25,000 Memphis Open.

The 29-year-old golfer, playing in the 10th tournament of his professional career, jumped ahead of the pack with a 7-under-par 63 first round that equaled the competitive course record.

Veech toured the 6,501-yard Colonial Country Club course in 31:32. Par is 34-36-70.

"We're out to break all existing records with it," Guy said. What does it figure to be like in August when he enters the Gold Cup races on Lake Washington in Seattle?

"Joe and I are after the world record Donald Campbell holds it. He did 248.6 miles an hour."

In the 1948 Gold Cup in Detroit Lombardo had to capsize his boat to prevent an accident and they fished him out of the water with a broken left arm and cuts.

Americans Vie For British Title On Tight Course

SANDWICH, England (AP) — Bill Hyndman, 43-year-old American challenger for the British amateur golf championship, today forecast that the golfer "who can thread a needle with his drive" will take the title next week.

Hyndman and 17 other Americans are entered in the British championship Monday through Friday over the par 35-36-71 Royal St. George's Links in this windy southeast corner of England.

"The player who strays too often off these tight fairways in the deep, terrible rough might as well pack up and go home," said the big Philadelphiaan.

Hyndman, a member of the U.S. Walker Cup team which defeated Britain 9-3 at Muirfield last week, is among six American Walker cuppers entered for the championship.

SIGNAL—IT'S CATOBY
With hundreds of motorists taking to the open highway more and more on these warm days, it is important, both for your life and the other fellow, to observe good, commonsense rules of the road. One tip is turn on your turn signal or use hand signals when turning or pulling off the highway. It can avoid an accident and could avoid a premature trip out of this world for you. Give the other fellow a break. Remember, if you haven't time to get there—don't go slow down and live.

Conewango Controversy
When two "camps" of engineers, the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers on one hand and Dr. Arthur E. Morgan and his associates on the other, come up with two completely divergent views on the practical aspects of the Conewango Valley Diversion Project, the most popular of alternate plans to the construction of the Kinzua Dam, then one begins to wonder about the facts. Yet it does little good to wonder about the facts in this case, for the basic points of each side lay deeply buried in a maze of engineering terminology which is wholly incomprehensible to the average man-on-the street.

Nevertheless, there are some non-technical aspects of the proposed Conewango Valley Project which lend themselves to common thinking and are fully understandable by every individual.

In the first place, the residents of the Conewango Valley are as reluctant to have the diversion canal in their valley as the Seneca Indians are to have the Kinzua Dam on the Allegheny. These folks feel the same. The same resentment, the same despair, at the thought of giving up their lands and their homes and having to go out and establish themselves in a new community as do the residents of the reservation. And, as the number of persons who would be displaced is much greater in their case (some five-thousand-plus would be displaced in the Conewango Valley; some twenty-three hundred, including six to seven hundred Seneca Indians, in the Allegheny Valley) they feel the condemnation of their homes and lands would be an injustice.

Further than this, the Conewango Valley Project would cost more: It is estimated the Conewango project would cost $199,000,000, the Kinzua Dam $115,000,000.

More relocation of roads, utility lines, pipelines, railroads, businesses and bridges would be required in the Conewango Valley.

And, being located in a more urban area, the overall effect of the Conewango Valley Diversion Project's periodic flooding would be more disturbing to adjacent residents than if it were a project in a more "removed" community.

Then last, but most important, the Conewango Valley Project would divert the excess waters of the Allegheny River into the Great Lakes. In doing this, it would take a valuable natural resource away from the rightful owners of this water, the Allegheny Valley, and give it to a competitive industrial center whose manufacturers could profit from the electrical power it would generate. This function of the Conewango project is clearly established by the statement of Barton M. Jones (an associate of Dr. Morgan's) when he appeared before the sub-committee on Appropriations last year. At that time, Mr. Jones said, "It will benefit the Great Lakes by contributing all excess and floodwaters from 2,034 square miles of the Allegheny River and Conewango Creek into Lake Erie." He stated further, "... and such acid and pollution control will be at the cost of power at Niagara Falls and Queenstown." Seemingly, and there is considerable evidence to support this thought, the intended function

Three very important "firsts" in the history of the United States took place on the small island of Jamestown, Va. In 1607, the English, led by Capt. John Smith, made their first permanent settlement in America there. In 1610, the first American representative government assembly was held there and later the same year the first Negroes in America were landed there.

© Encyclopedia Britannica

of the Conewango Valley Project is to drain off the waters of the Allegheny River and deliver them to Lake Erie. If so, this project could be an implement by which the life-blood of our industrial-development future of the upper Allegheny Valley would be drawn off to support an already heavily industrialized community. And if this is so, then the Conewango Valley Diversion Project is a direct threat to the economy of the Allegheny Valley.

Idea: Living Room Just for Parents

BY KAY SHEERWOOD
NEA Staff Writer

It isn't always the desire for a "family" room that firms the determination to enclose a porch, convert a garage or build an addition to expand living space.

Sometimes the plans are made by parents wishing a retreat of their own where they can read, write or visit out of the way of the more turbulent activities of the teen-agers.

For some, it makes good sense to let the living room, which already bears the scars of hard usage, continue as the center of family activities.

An added room with fresh, new furnishings can be planned mainly for quieter, adult living.

IN OLDER HOMES, side porches or sunrooms are often suitable for conversion to modern sitting rooms, in which use of contemporary materials give promise of pleasant living. A favored piece of traditional furniture can be transferred to the room to add warmth and charm.

An example of a sitting room for grownups which is neither stuffy formal nor overly casual has been designed by Manasaw and Daggett.

The color scheme is blue and white. Two shades of blue are used, one a hyacinth tone and the other a paler, sky blue.

The flooring is of vinyl tile, laid in a diagonal checkerboard pattern in those two shades of blue.

No drapes or casement curtains are used. Light and air from the window wall are controlled by Venetian blinds in a new pattern. The slats are a matte white. Along their edges are brush strokes of color; in this case, the designers alternated three slats edged with hyacinth with two slats in the sky blue shade.

The effect when the slats are closed for complete privacy, is a subtle, pleasing, horizontal stripe.

What he'll "his window treatment and keeps windows from looking too bare are strong pine beams running across the ceiling and down to the floor between windows.

The beams are finished in a driftwood gray with a slight blue cast.

The roof of this room is made of translucent plastic panels. Light which filters through the plastic roof-ceiling is again controlled by Venetian blinds set in horizontal tracks between ceiling beams.

The effect obtained is a light and airy one. Wood is used to panel the other walls. These are of driftwood-finished western

News of Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Marlon Brando is finally finishing his movie he began six months ago.

This appears to be something of a record for modern Hollywood times. In the old days, a Charlie Chaplin or an Erich von Stroheim might have spent a year on an artistic venture, but costs were considerably different then.

More recently, MGM took 8½ months to shoot "Ben-Hur" in Italy, sometimes employing three separate companies. Brando's "One-Eyed Jacks" may be the modern record holder in Hollywood. At least it is at Paramount, where he has been shooting.

Brando expects to reach about 30 days (with a five-day shooting schedule) and finish his directorial chore next week. If there is any panic about his overtime, the Paramount brass don't show it.

"We've got the Brando name in a class Western," a spokesman said. "We feel that is worth the 1 to 4½ million the picture will cost. This will be our blockbuster of 1960."

Nor did Brando seem concerned when I visited him during the last days of filming. Tired, maybe, but not concerned. Weight is always a concern of his, and I asked if he had lost any.

"I've lost my mind, mostly," he said. "Some weight too. I've been working from early morning until midnight every night."

Nor will there be any rest for him. He's scheduled to start immediately in New York with "The Fugitive Kind," along with Anna Magnani and Joanne Woodward.

"I won't have a day between," he said. "and while I'm back there, I'll also be cutting 'One-Eyed Jacks.'"

BUSINESS BRIEFS

NEW YORK (AP)—James Conrard, president of Consolidated Natural Gas Co. since 1955, was elected chairman. He will continue as chief executive officer.

E. H. Tollefson, formerly executive vice president, was named president and chief operating officer.

NEW YORK (AP)—The nation's utility industry will add 14,334,000 kilowatts in new electric power generating capacity this year — the largest increase on record — the Edison Electric Institute estimates.

The institute's 25th semi-annual electric power survey said that the additions will bring total power producing capacity to about 158 million kilowatts by year-end.

All told, the institute said, the utilities are adding more than 42 million kilowatts of capacity from 1959 through 1962.

NEW YORK (AP) — Property valued at $90,889,000 went up in smoke in the United States during April, the National Board of Fire Underwriters reported in a monthly fire loss survey.

This was 8.5 per cent less than fire damage of $99,061,000 in April last year and 9 per cent less than the March 1959, total of $99,610,000.

North Warren Pupils Enjoying Bus Trip

A delighted group of sixth grade students, 56 in number, departed by bus at seven o'clock this morning from North Warren school headed for points of interest in the Buffalo area.

According to the school principal, Mrs. Helena Iseman, the youngsters will pause first at the famed Peace bridge, where they will visit the Immigration headquarters. From that point the party progresses to old Fort Erie.

Next on the schedule is the Buffalo Museum of Science for luncheon and a tour of the premises and then on to the Historical building in Delaware Park. The bus returns to Warren by way of Silver Creek where dinner will be enjoyed at Ruth's Restaurant. It is expected that homecoming will be between 9:00 and 9:30 this evening.

Six parents accompanied the students with faculty members, Mrs. Helen Morrow and Mrs. Mary Stahlman also on board to assist.
